LOCATION.

The College is situated in Newberry, South Carolina. Newberry is a healthy and beautiful town in one of the best districts in the State, and is situated immediately on the Columbia and Greenville It is noted for the urbanity and intelligence of its citizens, among whom are some of the best jurists in the State, as well as other distinguished and professional men. There are six Churches in the place, representing six evangelical denominations. The residences around the town are unsurpassed in elegance and rural beauty. Altogether, it is just such a place as is suited for student life—quiet, and free from the temptations of larger towns, and yet affording all the intelligence and refinements of the highest social life. these advantages, what is to many a consideration not without its importance, the expenses are comparatively light, not being more than one-half that of large cities.

The College building is on an eminence overlooking the town, and in its ample and pleasant accommodations, as well as in its architectural beauty, is unsurpassed by any building for similar purposes in the country. (See Frontispiece.)

EXAMINATIONS.

Four public examinations take place during the College year:—
one in the middle and one at the close of each session. Absence from these examinations is found to be very injurious to the improvement of a student, and renders him liable to be placed in a lower class. Reports respecting the behavior and scholarship of the students are sent to the parents or guardians at the close of each session.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

Prayers are offered in the College Chapel every morning and evening, when one of the Faculty officiates, and all the students are required to be present. They are also required to attend worship in the College Church on the Sabbath, except such as have permission to attend service in some other Church specified by their parents or guardians.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College—the Phrenakosmian and Excelsior—which greatly assist the students in their improvement, by exercises in composition, declamation, and extemporaneous speaking. Two large halls in the College edifice have been appropriated to the use of these Societies, which the members have furnished in the most beautiful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

LIBRARIES.

A large room in the western wing of the College edifice has been set apart, and arranged for the libraries of the College and the Theological Department. The Theological Library is large, and contains many rare and valuable books, to which the College students have access. The College Library, which has just been founded, has already received considerable accessions of valuable books from liberal friends of the College. This library will be constantly increased by the contributions of friends, and annual appropriations from the Board of Trustees. Besides the College Library, there are libraries belonging to the two literary societies, which are respectively reserved for the use of their members.

EXPENSES.

The stated expenses of the College term, consisting of nine months, paid quarterly, in advance, exclusive of books, clothes, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz.:—

Board in private families about $10 per month,	•		. $90 00
Tuition and use of Library,		•	50 00
Washing, &c.,	•		. 10 00
Fuel, about			6 00
Contingent fees,	•		. 4 00
			$160 00

The tuition in the Preparatory Department is considerably less. The entire expense to those in the lower department, for the term of nine months, will not exceed $150.

To those availing themselves of the plan of Scholarships, there will be a reduction of at least one-half the amount of annual tuition. Persons wishing information on the terms of Scholarships, can address the President of the College, who will respond promptly to such appeals for information.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The College year has only one session, consisting of nine months. It begins on the first Monday in October, and ends about the first of July. A short recess is given at the close of December, including the Christmas holidays. It is highly important that the students should return to College in time to attend the first recitations or lectures of their respective classes, since an absence of a few days at the time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

The students are distributed among the families of the village and surrounding country. This arrangement is decidedly favorable to the student, both in relation to their manners and morals. They will thus enjoy the social culture and discipline of home influence and supervision.

The regulations of the College are such as to secure the application of the student to study, to shield him from the perils of temptation, and to promote a strictly moral deportment. Parents sending their children to Newberry College, may do so with the happy confidence that everything will be done to promote their highest educational and moral interests.

AN ABSTRACT FROM DR. BACHMAN'S ADDRESS TO THE LUTHERAN CHURCH AND THE FRIENDS OF EDUCATION GENERALLY.

THE Trustees are resolved that no expense nor effort shall be spared, and no discipline, moral or religious, be omitted to render it a first class College, in which all the branches of a classical, mathematical and literary education may be acquired; where our sons shall be trained to a love of study; be preserved from the contaminating influences of vice, and enjoy the advantages of the moral and religious training and example of pious professors. Whilst this Institution holds out advantages in its healthy location and in its central situation between the upper and lower country, it offers another in the rates of Tuition; these are placed so low as to accommodate persons possessed of very limited means. The College, to be fully endowed, requires a funded capital of ($125,000) one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars; or a steady income amounting to the interest of that sum. The best professors can only be procured and retained by liberal salaries. To those who are desirous of deriving a personal benefit for their sons and wards, a certain number of scholarships are ordered to be disposed of. The following are the rates: One hundred dollars ($100) will secure a scholarship for six years; three hundred dollars ($300) a scholarship for twenty years; and five hundred dollars ($500) a family scholarship. The person or persons taking the scholarships, or in case of their death their male descendants, shall be entitled to the right of instruction in all the branches taught in the College for the period of their scholarships, respectively.

An individual, upon giving bond for one thousand dollars ($1,000), shall be entitled to a perpetual scholarship for himself, and after his death for his heirs and assigns. Any body corporate shall be entitled to scholarships on the same terms as for individuals, and to a perpetual scholarship by securing by bond the payment of one thousand dollars ($1,000) for each scholarship. The nett income from the sale of scholarships are to be applied exclusively to the support of tutors and professors in the College, in the payment of their salaries, and to no other purpose, and the interest is only to be used for said purpose.

Certificates of scholarships will be prepared and issued to the holders of said scholarships, the same to be signed by the President and Secretary of the Board of Trustees.
